Early Bird Registration Expires Friday

Register NOW for the CSAC 2012 Legislative Conference

Early Bird registration for the CSAC 2012 Legislative Conference will expire this Friday. CSAC changed our registration process to provide an additional discount for those who wanted to register for the conference early. If you register by Friday, you can save $100 off the on-site registration fee, or $50 off of the Advanced Registration Fee. So far, nearly 200 registrants have taken advantage of this additional savings.

The 2012 Legislative Conference will be held in Sacramento May 30 and 31. This will be 2 weeks after the May Revise has been released and the conference will feature such speakers as Governor Jerry Brown, Senate President Darrell Steinberg and others. Attendees will hear first-hand what these state leaders expect for the summer and the 2012-13 budget year, not to mention the November 2012 elections.

In addition to timely speakers, with topical messages, attendees can learn through workshops what health reform will mean to California and how California counties can position themselves to take full advantage of this change in federal policy, as well as best practices in how counties are dealing with the dissolution of redevelopment agencies and what can be done to encourage economic development in post-RDA California.

Finally, the Legislative Conference is one of two opportunities each year to network with your colleagues from around the state to renew acquaintances and make new friendships with your peers and colleagues. And don't forget, the Legislative Conference also features meetings of CSAC's policy committees, as well as the Board of Directors. This is your opportunity to provide meaningful input into statewide policy issues and issues important to the Association.

What spare time you have can be spent at the State Capitol talking with your legislative delegation about issues important to your county. See you in Sacramento next month!
