Master of Public Administration

An ON LINE executive program offered in partnership with CSAC Institute for working professionals

In partnership with CSU-Northridge, CSAC Institute is creating a cohort of primarily county employees to work together in earning their MPA degree. The two-year program is on-line, with a practical, leadership-based curriculum. County participants have the additional benefit of two in-person one-day seminars in Sacramento featuring practices centered on county leadership. Learn more at <https://go.csun.edu/MPA>.

Master of Public Administration

Through longstanding partnerships with cities, counties and public agencies, CSUN has achieved a leadership position in the field of public administration. With a curriculum grounded in both theory and fieldwork, as well as the option to attend online, on campus or offsite, CSUN's MPA is the smart choice for success in the public sector.

This degree is ideal for working professionals in the public, private or nonprofit sectors, as well those seeking employment in these areas. The program provides an education that prepares students to take on new workplace responsibilities, including leadership roles, and to positively impact urban and metropolitan affairs. An MPA is an educational opportunity that allows professionals from other fields to transition into the public sector, and it consistently serves graduates well whenever promotion is an option.
