$300 million for Public Health

1/ After more than a decade of begging by public health advocates, lawmakers are promising $300 million a year in new state funding for California’s hollowed-out public health system. What made the difference?
@ahartreports @CalHealthline #cabudget

Unprecedented Lobbying Effort Sees Big Win for California Public Health:
After years of unfulfilled funding, California’s 2022-23 budget will include a dramatic new investment in public health. Insiders say a powerhouse lobbying... (californiahealthline.org)
